WELCOME ADDRESS

“Welcome to the ESEB 2025 Congress, set to take place at the International Convention Centre of Barcelona (CCIB) in Barcelona, Spain, from August 17 to 22, 2025.

This congress marks another milestone for the European Society for Evolutionary Biology \(ESEB\), which has been organising biennial conferences since 1987. ESEB congresses are renowned for being among the largest in the field of evolutionary biology, attracting 2,000 participants from around the globe.

The 2025 edition proudly hosted by the Spanish Society for Evolutionary Biology \(SESBE\) promises to uphold this tradition of excellence.

The congress will commence with a welcome reception on Sunday, August 17, 2025, offering a great start to a week filled with insightful discussions and networking opportunities, culminating with the conference dinner on Friday, August 22.

As the largest multidisciplinary congress in the field of evolutionary biology, ESEB 2025 will be the perfect platform for your company to share new knowledge, explore challenges, and showcase your latest innovations in areas such as molecular evolution, evolutionary genetics, genomics, phylogenetics, and many more.

The Sponsorship & Exhibition Manual offers a range of opportunities, including various sponsorship packages, exhibition, and special branding options. Download it now to explore how to secure visibility, engage with a global audience of experts, and maximize your company's presence at ESEB 2025!

We look forward to welcoming you to the ESEB 2025 Congress in Barcelona, where cutting-edge scientific discourse will merge with the city's vibrant culture and history, promising an enriching experience!”

About ESEB 20253

YEARS

The European Society for Evolutionary Biology (ESEB) Congress is one of the largest and most prestigious international conferences dedicated to evolutionary biology. Held every two years since 1987, the congress brings together leading researchers, academics, and professionals from around the world to share groundbreaking research, foster collaborations, and discuss the latest advancements in the field.

2,000
EXPERTS

In 2025, ESEB will host its next congress in Barcelona, Spain, from August 17 to 22, 2025, gathering over 2,000 participants, including renowned keynote speakers, early-career researchers, and industry professionals.

Main topics

The ESEB congress will cover empirical, computational and theoretical work across the broad field of evolutionary biology, including, among others, the following:

- Genomics and Evolutionary Genetics
- Next-Generation Sequencing (NGS) and High-Throughput Technologies
- Bioinformatics and Computational Biology
- Artificial Intelligence and Machine Learning in Evolutionary Research
- Ecology, Adaptation, and Evolutionary Dynamics
- Phylogenetics and Comparative Genomics

50+ Symposia / 1,450+ Posters

5 Keynote Speakers

MICHAEL LYNCH (USA)

Regents Professor at Arizona State University, is a leading figure in the genetic mechanisms of evolution. His groundbreaking research includes the 5000 Daphnia genomes project and global genomic diversity studies, integrating with population-genetic theory.

CHARISSA DE BEKKER (THE NETHERLANDS)

Associate Professor at Utrecht University, known for her innovative research on parasite manipulation of host behaviour using zombie ants as a model.

LOVE DALÉN (SWEDEN)

Professor at Stockholm University, who made history by sequencing the complete woolly mammoth genome and leading the sequencing of the oldest genomes ever recovered.

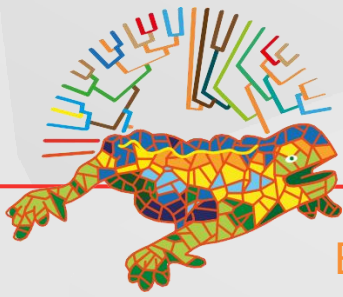

BEATRIZ VICOSO (AUSTRIA)

Professor at the Institute of Science and Technology Austria, focuses on evolutionary genomics, including the dynamics of sex chromosomes and shellfish genetic elements.

JOHANNA MAPPES (FINLAND)

Evolutionary ecologist at the University of Helsinki, exploring predator-prey interactions and color polymorphism in animals.
